Investment philosophy

This strategy adopts DNR Capital's quality investment philosophy. Quality companies at attractive valuations, are well placed to deliver investment returns through economic cycles. Concentrated portfolios of quality companies maximise the opportunity for outperformance. DNR Capital has developed a proprietary "quality web" methodology, where we define quality companies as being those with the following five attributes:

- earnings strength (particularly improving return)
- superior industry structure
- balance sheet strength
- strong management and
- environmental, social and governance (ESG) risk assessment.

Our assessment of a company's quality is overlaid with a detailed valuation assessment where we seek to identify mispriced market inefficiencies. ESG is risk integrated not impact-driven.

1 In determining if the business operation of a company in question is 'core' or 'non-core', DNR Capital considers factors such as the relevant business operation's contribution to group revenue, inclusion in company strategy and intended allocation of capital. Where the gross revenue contribution of the relevant business operation is 10% or greater it is deemed "core", and where it is less than 10% DNR Capital further considers inclusion in company strategy and intended allocation of capital to determine whether the business is "core". Where the company intends to allocate 10% or more of its capital towards the relevant business operation, the business is deemed "core".
